The 6th "Melbourne Three-Uni Orientation Festival"

Melbourne is one of Australia's most vibrant, multicultural cities, drawing a huge wave of new university students from around the world every year. Built around the idea of "connecting universities with city resources", this 6th edition focuses on students from the University of Melbourne, Monash and RMIT, with 1,000+ expected on site. It's both an entry point for first-years discovering local life, education and spending options, and an ideal platform for brands to build campus influence — more exposure, stronger word of mouth, efficient conversion.

Why we run this festival

Welcome first-years

Help new students settle into campus life and the city with practical info and gifts.

Grow brand influence

Give merchants a stage to showcase their brand and products and build awareness among a young audience.

Spark connection

Bridge first-years and merchants through interactive activities and gift giveaways that build brand affinity.

What makes first-years show up

Gifts, prize draws and games keep students on site

Free gifts

A range of free gifts to collect on site — a real draw for the crowd.

Interactive games

A variety of fun activities that lift first-year engagement and the on-site atmosphere.

Practical info

Useful guidance on living and studying in Melbourne to help new students settle in fast.

What sponsors get is a conversion pipeline

Students come to you — no fighting for foot traffic on the street

01

Pre-event buzz

14 accounts + three-uni community groups plant the seed early, putting your brand on every first-year's arrival checklist.

02

On-site conversion

Students arrive together, browse booths, collect gifts and add WeChat by scanning — no street-side intercepting.

03

Private follow-up

After the event, keep reaching people via scan-ins, task records, prize winners and enquiry logs.

Which merchants fit the festival best

Housing / apartments / moving

New to Melbourne, first-years need accommodation, furniture, broadband and insurance in their first 30 days.

Banking / telco / everyday services

Account opening, SIM cards, transport, health cover and daily spending — perfect for perk giveaways in exchange for first leads.

Education / careers / migration

Students actively ask about course selection, tutoring, internships, visas and career planning — a longer decision cycle.

Food / retail / beauty

Ideal for coupon packs, prize draws and community perks that turn a single visit into repeat business.

Reach

Online 100,000+ | On-site foot traffic 2,000+

Early Bird • 10% off before 15 July

One event replaces a single-uni booth + street team

$2,500/day

Standard uni O-week booth

Usually covers just one campus; your leads depend on booth position and passing foot traffic.

$35/hr

Extra street-team labour

A typical crew of 4-10 people adds $560-$1,400 for a 4-hour shift on site.

1000+

First-years in one place

UniMelb + Monash + RMIT students browse booths, scan and enquire in a single indoor setting.

SCHOOL O-WEEK

The booth fee is just the start — scattered traffic and extra street teams are the real cost

A typical merchant gets around 400 leads at a school O-week, but still needs 4-10 people to keep intercepting passers-by, so the total cost easily runs above the booth price itself.

JR ORIENTATION FESTIVAL

Students browse every booth in one room, and volunteers drive the traffic to you

Partnerships start at $990 with all three universities in one place. Merchants focus on perks, QR codes, enquiries and private-domain follow-up — no need to hire a big street team.

Prize tickets drive the on-site flow

SPONSOR VALUE

Turn students from "just passing by" into "browse, scan, share, come back"

Every interaction feeds back to one reward unit: the prize ticket. To earn more tickets, students team up, browse booths, scan QR codes and post to social — so you get more even foot traffic and leads worth following up.

Leaderboard drives play

1

Check-in ticket

Everyone gets 1 ticket on arrival — checking in drops you straight into the prize pool.

2

Team-up bonus

Teams of 3 get 2 tickets each, teams of 5 get 3 each — nudging students to sign up with friends.

3

Stamp rally

One ticket for every merchant booth scanned, up to 8 booths by default.

4

Social tasks

Screenshots on Xiaohongshu, WeChat Moments and Instagram earn extra tickets once verified.

After the event you get a full read-out — sign-ups, check-ins, scans, social tasks, prize records and merchant leads — so sponsor exposure goes well beyond "just a booth".

Your bridge into the campus market

Built on the Course Rep network's deep social-media assets and rich offline event experience, we offer a range of partnership options that use our media influence and tight university network to build your brand a bridge deep into the campus market. Whether through digital content collaborations or hands-on activities with students, our flexible partnership models help you reach and engage a young, active target audience.

ACHIEVEMENTS

Past events Track record

Orientation Week partnerships

Official O-Week partnerships

Every February and July we partner officially with universities, running booths during O-Week: banners/posters, campus flyer handouts, coupons, gifts, and adding students via QR / new-student groups. Single-uni daily foot traffic tops 10,000+.

University club partnerships

O-Week is prime time to build early brand goodwill; by partnering with campus clubs, we reach targeted student groups through their signature activities and strengthen your presence via our on-campus network.
